My analysis of Juan Seguin’s Campus Report Card indicates that the Campus Improvement Plan is being implemented. On a whole students are showing progress on high stakes tests. This knowledge has enhanced my knowledge as an educational diagnostician.

The importance of increasing technology and using real life experiences has enhanced and defined my skills in recommending and adapting instruction. My desired position as a future independent contractor will enable me to fulfill my mission as a life-long learner. My experiences and previous knowledge has been enhanced by my education, research in the case studies I have reviewed, and direct on the job training with special education children.

My findings are very beneficial because partnerships with the parent, school and community need to be improved.

Insights I have gained include a heightened awareness of due process implications. My future plans are directly on target with the need to provide quality, individualized, education services for special needs citizens and increase parent and community involvement.
